

22. STATEMENT

On June 29, 2026, a confidential informant met with Lt. Racy and Cpt. Baker regarding allegations of misconduct by Officer Wheelis. It was alleged that Wheelis fraternized with known criminals and was in romantic relationship with Chasatiee Jones, who was also involved in criminal activity. Allegations included running ACIC checks for Jones and others at her request, tipping her on a homicide case involving her child's father, and sharing retail theft GroupMe information. ACIC records showed Wheelis queried three of four named individuals and checked Jones multiple times, prompting a request for his full query history. Jones's phone extraction, obtained via probation search waiver, showed evidence supporting inappropriate use of police resources tied to the relationship. In a interview under Garrity, Wheelis admitted ACIC checks on known offenders to advise on warrants and sending Jones money, but denied sexual relations and tipping off a search. A polygraph was scheduled for Wheelis but he refused after receiving advice from counsel. Wheelis denied his relationship with Jones, stating that it was a professional relationship in order to get information. Later, he admitted that he engaged in a flirtatious relationship but it was never physical. He admitted to telling her that he loved her, but stated he was just enjoying the attention. When confronted with photos of them in bed together, he advised that he did not recall that. Wheelis was removed from the homicide case and prosecutors advised that there may be issues with his testimony. Wheelis was terminated on July 13, 2026. This is a violation of Rule CLEST Rule 1034(1)(b)(iii),(vii), also referenced as 12CAR §1-138(a)(2)(C), (G) and Rule 1020, also referenced as 12CAR §1-124. Lt. Morshaydrick Racy

7/13/2026

I was made aware of a situation by Det. Varner on June 28, 2026 and she had a confidential informant meet with Captain Scott Baker and me on June 29, 2026. During the meeting it was alleged that Jeremy Wheelis had been involved in several instances of officer misconduct. The allegations were that he was fraternizing with known criminals and engaged in a romantic relationship with a young lady (Chasatiee Jones), known to him and other officers, to be continuously engaged in criminal activity. The informant, a person who consistently participates in acts of theft, advised Jeremy Wheelis sent money to multiple subjects who had been arrested for theft in other jurisdictions including other states. It was also alleged Jeremy Wheelis would run the significant other's name (Chasatiee Jones), at her request, and also run other names through ACIC, at her request. Another allegation was that Jeremy Wheelis was operating as the case detective on a homicide that involved her child's father (Mario Stafford) as a suspect. It was alleged that Jeremy Wheelis, kept Chasatiee apprised of the case information including information involving a search warrant that was executed at a Monroe St. address. One other allegation was that Jeremy Wheelis was connected to a retail theft "Group Me" and he would relay the information to the significant other and her friends.

I was able to send ACIC correspondence to request information concerning queries on Chasatiee Jones, Ruby Moss, Shanqwala Martin and Yarkesha Riley-Armstrong in relation to this investigation. I received these back from ACIC and Jeremy Wheelis showed to have checked 3 of the 4 in ACIC at some point. He also showed to have checked Chasatiee Jones multiple times. I then requested query history of Jeremy Wheelis to cross reference and confirm.

Chasatiee Jones was arrested by patrol officers and upon learning this, I was informed by detectives that she had a search waiver on file and was on probation. JPD detectives seized her phone and extracted information from it, pursuant to her probationary and waiver status. This extraction provided information supporting the allegations brought forth. At this point, I have not done a thorough review of the extraction but did see evidence that supported inappropriate use of police resources as it pertains to the relationship.

I was present for and interview conducted with Jeremy Wheelis on 7/22/2026. Captain Baker read and had him sign a Garrity Rights Advisement. Jeremy opted to not have a witness present during the interview. When asked about his relationship with Chasatiee, Jeremy downplayed the relationship. He acknowledged he knew that she was a "serious booster" and operated in Texas, Oklahoma and other states and then sells the stolen goods to a person in Osceola. He advised he was working this angle and waiting for the warrants to come up. Jeremy mentioned who was in the crew and advised he ran them through ACIC checking for warrants and once the warrants came in, he would advise them to turn themselves in. Jeremy later advised he and Chasatiee were "talking" but never had sex nor were they in a romantic relationship. He advised all they did was send flirty text messages to each other. In response to an allegation of him hanging out at a residence with known criminals, he advised he went to the residence to drop of a disposable BBQ grill to Chasatiee's relative. He advised he was there no longer than 5 minutes. He was asked about putting money on the books of known criminals while they were incarcerated. He advised he did not do this but that he has sent her money before. Another allegation was made about him "tipping off" Chasatiee when officers were getting ready to execute a search warrant in reference to the Homicide case he was working. Jeremy vehemently denied this accusation. Moreso than any other accusation made against him alleging misconduct.

Two interviews of Jeremy Wheelis were conducted by Captain Scott Baker and Lt. Morshaydrick Racy. 7/22/2026 and again on July, 28, 2026. A polygraph examination was set up for Friday July 24 , 2026 and Jeremy advised he could not make it. A reschedule of the polygraph was set for Monday July 27, 2026. Jeremy advised he would not show up for the examination. During the second interview, Jeremy explained that he would not take a polygraph due to several factors. He said he consulted an attorney who advised him that polygraphs were antiquated and his on personal beliefs were that the examination was not reliable. He advised he would not leave his fate up to that examination and that if he understood that a termination may be the result.

1. Misuse of ACIC

As for the allegation of misuse of ACIC, it was determined that Jeremy's behavior, although seemingly inappropriate, was not found to be in violation. During his interview, Jeremy advised he did check ACIC on several individuals known to him to be criminal actors but that he did so with the anticipation of telling them when/where/how to take care of warrants should they show to be wanted. In speaking with ACIC about an officer checking someone known to be a significant other, it was advised this was not a violation unless the officer does not intend to act on the information in an appropriate manner. They can notify the person of the wanted status but cannot notify the person where the warrant is from unless they plan on taking action.

2. Inappropriate relationship with victim/confidential informant.

Jeremy vehemently denies having an inappropriate relationship with Chasatiee Jones. He first advised his relationship with her was strictly professional as he was using her to try to get information on two theft rings known to him to be operating in our area. He refers to her as a "serious booster". Later on in the conversation he advised although he did not have a physical relationship with Jones, he did engage in a text and call situation that was flirtatious at best. When confronted with the obvious information that both he and Jones' own words and actions indicate they were involved in not only a romantic relationship, but it was sexual, physical and sensual in nature, Jeremy denies this fully. So much so that in his second interview he exclaimed "I did not have sex with that woman". Both Jones and Jeremy, over a 7 day period, tell each other they "love" each other and recount sexual escapades, obviously indicative of a relationship that was sexual at the least. Jeremy eventually admits to telling her that he loves her but that he did not love her. He advised he was just telling her that in a continued flirting. He advised he was enjoying the attention because he had not been shown this type of attention since his estranged fiancé left him. Jeremy advised Jones had never been to his residence and he had only been to her residence a couple of times. When confronted with the photos that show the two of them in a bed together, unclothed, he advised he did not recall that. The photos were taken with his phone and sent from his phone to her phone. He confirmed that both photos were at her residence in her bed and the video was of his dog Moses. These were sent in the same text strand. Although presented with this information, he attempted to deny it's authenticity. This relationship continued and would later prove costly due to the fact that it was undisclosed when Jeremy became lead detective in a case where Chasatiee Jones child's father was a prime suspect of a homicide. This relationship is discovered and Investigative Supervisors make a decision to remove Jeremy from the case and eventually remove him from the division all together. Upon speaking with prosecutors, it is also found that there may be an issue with Jeremy's testimony in this case. This is the direct result of an inappropriate relationship that went unreported, therefore jeopardizing the case and it's impact on the community.

3. Unethical behavior, providing case information to criminal actors. Including specific details of high risk search warrant prior to execution.

Jeremy adamantly denied this. There was no evidence available that would support or discredit this allegation. The phone information did not cover the range of dates that this would have happened. Of his denials, this was without a doubt, the strongest. However, this was also information that was brought to us, unsolicited, by someone in the circle of the criminal actors.

4. Divulging information from law enforcement retail Groupme messaging group.

Two confidential sources advised they knew about the Groupme and they had either been showed the Groupme or told about it when they were the subject of conversation. Upon further investigation, the one who was the subject of the investigation advised she was called by Chasatiee Jones and notified that she was on camera at Ulta stealing. She advised she later came to speak with a detective about her involvement in that case. This was a result of Jeremy showing the information to Chasatiee in an attempt to identify the subject.

5. Fraternizing with criminal actors in casual and continuous manner.

One of the informants revealed that Jeremy would fraternize with the same criminal actors he originally told us he was investigating. The allegation was that he bought the children fireworks and came over to hang with the crew on July 4, 2026. When asked about this, Jeremy advised he did go to the house where Chasatiee and some others were but it was only to drop off a disposable bbq grill and he only stayed around 5 minutes. There was no other evidence presented that would dispute this or confirm it. The point of interest is the fact that the informant advised he was there on July 4 and in a separate interview he also advised he was there July 4. The consistency throughout this process has been that his explanations either downplayed incidents where there was evidence to suggest otherwise or his explanations seemed to paint a more innocent picture than what was reported or found.
